

Disclosure Statement

Ramana Nanda

Too Much of a Good Thing? The Venture Capital Boom and its Consequences for Innovation

Harvard Business School's Division of Research provided funding for this work. I have not received financial support from any interested party. I have received data from or had discussions about using data from several Venture Capital investors. None of these are explicitly mentioned, with the exception of Breakthrough Energy Ventures.