

Disclosures, Timothy Layton, “The Behavioral Foundations of Default Effects: Evidence from Medicare Part D”

1. Sources of financial support for the research

This research was supported by the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality and the National Institute on Aging.

2. Potentially relevant professional and financial relationships in the past 3 years:

Harvard Medical School: Assistant Professor (salary)

Litigation consulting with Greylock MacKinnon and Associates (consulting fees $30-40k)

Consulting fees from University of Texas – Austin for project “Selection Incentives in US Health Plan Design.” [funded by Pfizer] ($10k)

Grant from John and Laura Arnold Foundation.

Grant from National Institute of Mental Health

Grant from Anthem, Inc.

Grant from National Institute on Aging

Grant from Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality

Grant from Social Security Administration

Grant from J-PAL

Payment from Farallon Capital Management for consulting (under $1000)

3. Paid or unpaid positions of relevant entities.

None

4. Spousal or family-related COIs

None

5. Each author must disclose if another party had the right to review the paper prior to its circulation.

No party had the right to review this paper.

6. IRB approval

Approval was obtained from the IRB at the National Bureau of Economic Research.