Article Title: Stop and Frisk Around the Country

There was no external funding for this study.

I have been paid as a consultant on police practices in Philadelphia and Chicago in the past three years, in each case being paid by the respective city. In Chicago I am a member of the independent monitor team. None of the data used in this article was obtained due to my consulting positions. My consulting work is completely independent of this article and neither city has the right to review my academic work prior to publication.
