

Disclosure Statement - Jakob Roland Munch

I received funding from the Economic Policy Research Network and the Danish Industry Foundation to undertake this research.

I have received consultancy fees from the Danish Trade Council to write a single-authored report in Danish based on the results in the originally submitted paper. This report will not be published in journals, books or any other outlet.

The Trade Council has provided access to the export promotion data used in the submitted article.

The administrative data used in the article is based on several Danish administrative registers. Physically these administrative micro data are located on specific computers at Statistics Denmark and may not be transferred to computers outside Statistics Denmark due to data security considerations. Researchers and their research assistants are allowed to use these data if their research project is approved by Statistics Denmark and if they are affiliated with a research institution accepted by Statistics Denmark. Access to the data at Statistics Denmark is provided through the internet. If a researcher at a university or other research institution outside Denmark wishes to use these data, this may be accomplished by visiting a Danish research institution or by cooperating with researchers or research assistants working in Denmark. If researchers want to analyze our data for replication purposes, I will provide guidance with regard to getting a project approval at Statistics Denmark.
